86-425 Eckels, Travis, Lesperance, Billings, and Kramer are on the dinosaur safari in the past. Travis warns the hunters about the possible consequences of not staying on the path and killing an undesignated plant or animal. Lesperance determines which dinosaur may be killed without changing the course of Time. The men see the dinosaur and Eckels becomes afraid.

Eckels runs away from the dinosaur, stepping off the path and into the dirt. Travis, Lesperance, Billings, and Kramer kill the dinosaur.

When the men return to the time machine, Travis chastises and threatens Eckels for stepping off the path. The men set the time machine to take them back to the future.

The men arrive at the office of Time Safari. Things are the same but not the same as before they went on safari.

Eckels notices a dead butterfly in the dirt on the bottom of his boot. Eckels cannot believe killing a small butterfly in the past could harm History.

The official says that Deutscher defeated Keith in the US presidential elections the previous day. Travis kills Eckels.
